

Friction can be reduced by changing from which of the following?

A. Sliding to rolling

B. Rolling to sliding

C. Dynamic to Static

D. Walking to Running

Friction

Friction is a force which opposes the motion of an object. It is always easier to roll than to slide an object over another object. Therefore, rolling friction is much less than sliding friction.

847