

The graveyard of Red Blood Cells is known as _____?

A. Liver

B. Lungs

C. Spleen

D. Heart

The graveyard of Red Blood Cells (RBC)

Spleen is called the graveyard of Red Blood Cells.

What is a Spleen?

A Spleen is a long dark-red oval shaped organ situated on the left side of the body. It lies between the stomach and the diaphragm. Spleen produces cells involved in immune responses.
