

What does a current account surplus imply?

- A. The country is a net lender to the rest of the world
- B. The country is running a net capital account surplus
- C. Foreign investment in domestic securities is at very low levels
- D. All of the above

A current account surplus implies to the country is a net lender to the rest of the world

882