

What is the largest desert in the world?

What is the largest desert in the world?

- a) Kalahari Desert
- b) Gobi Desert
- c) Sahara Desert
- d) None of these

With an area of about 3.5 million square miles, the Sahara Desert is the largest desert in the world. Sahara Desert is spanning eleven countries and covers almost one third of Africa. The Arabian is the second largest desert whereas Gobi is third largest.