

Which range separates China from Pakistan?

Which range separates China from Pakistan?

- a) Karakorum
- b) Hindukush
- c) Himalayas
- d) Pamir

The Karakorum, one of the tallest mountain ranges in the world, separates China from Pakistan. China Pakistan border is about 596 km long. The Karakorum range is home to world's tallest mountains, glaciers and passes. This ranges starts from Indian occupied Ladakh region, passes through China and Pakistan and end in Afghanistan.